

About our website

This easy read sheet is about a new website.

We explain how you can use this website.

The website helps people to learn about technology and the internet.

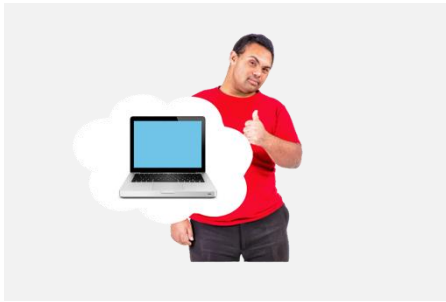

Western Australian Council of Social Service (WACOSS) wrote this sheet.

You can ask someone to help you read this sheet.

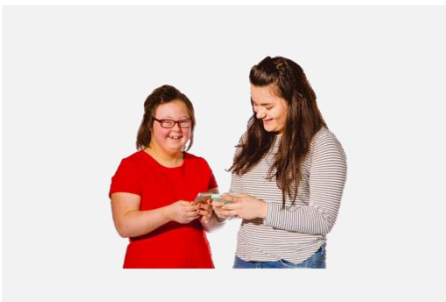

We made a website to help people learn about technology and the internet.

It is a Digital Inclusion website.

This means everyone should be included in using technology.

Everyone should be able to use technology and the internet if they want to.

The website is for people who might not know a lot about technology.

They might not know how to use the internet.

The website is also for community workers and trainers.

You can find the website here:

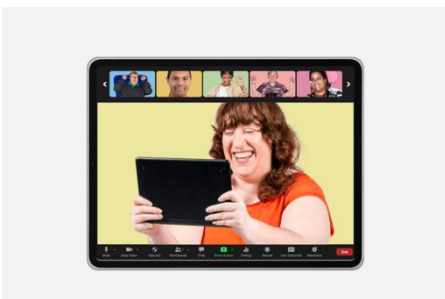

<https://digitalinclusionwa.org.au>

Learn

On our website there is a Learn area.

There are lots of helpful resources here.

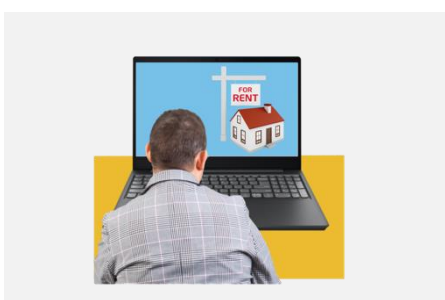

You can learn about things like:

- how to connect to the internet
- how to send an email
- how to make a video call
- how to use social media.

You can learn about using different devices like computers, iPads or smart phones.

You can also learn about using online services to do things like

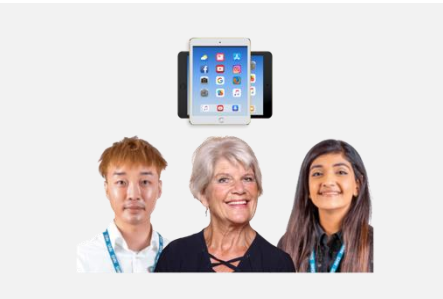

- finding a job
- finding a place to live
- using Government services.

Teach

On our website there is a Teach area.

There are guides for support workers and community workers here.

This area helps community workers to learn more about technology and the internet.

Those workers and trainers can then help other people to learn digital skills.

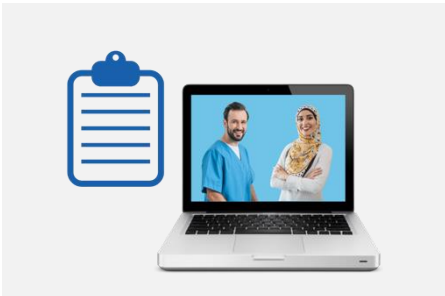

This will help more people in the community to go online.

Support

On our website there is a Support area.

This area helps people find services and supports.

You can find out about online services.

This means when you use the internet to find or use services.

You can find online services that support you and your community.

For example you can find services that help you with:

- finding a job
- finding a home
- looking after your health.

Collaborate

On our website there is a Collaborate area.

You can get help, ideas and support from other people.

You may have questions about using technology and getting online.

There is plenty of support from other people in the community.

There are websites where you can ask questions and get support.

You can also use online groups to ask questions and get ideas.

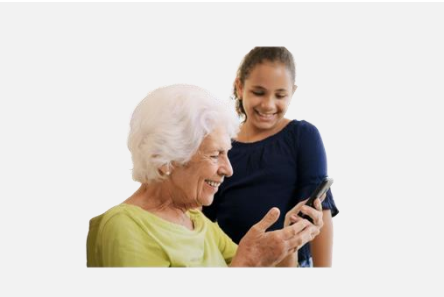

You can find some of these places on our website.

Who can help

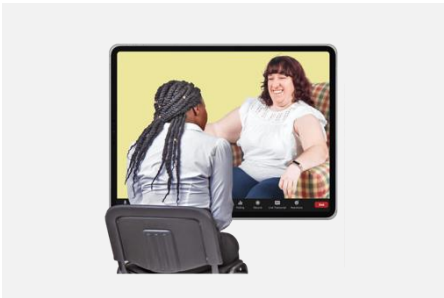

You can get help to use technology and the internet.

People who can help:

- friends and family
- people in the community that you trust
- support workers.

There are also organisations that can help if

- you need support to use technology
- you are worried about your safety online.
